Supreme court reinstates Zoabi and Marzel for Israeli elections

ICEJ News briefs.

MK Haneen Zoabi (Balad) and Yahad candidate Baruch Marzel saw the ban on their candidacies for the upcoming Knesset elections, originally imposed by the Knesset's Central Elections Committee last week, overturned Wednesday by the High Court of Justice. In other election news, the Zionist Union faction cancelled a planned event in Nazareth this week due to fierce protests by the Joint Arab List faction. According to reports in Arab media outlets, the Joint Arab List argued successfully with Nazareth Mayor Ali Salam that the votes of people living in that city rightfully belonged to them and they should not be forced to compete for them with other political parties.

'Enemy of my enemy' in the Middle East

The Emet Report - WND, al monitor, JP, INN, Ynet, MEN, AP

The race to take over the Syrian Golan Heights has pitted the strategic intentions of the Iranian-backed Hezbollah against those of Israel, which Middle Eastern sources say is giving material help to Sunni jihadists to thwart a perceived threat from Iran and its Lebanese proxy.

The infiltration of Syrian militants into Lebanon threatens Hezbollah's presence in the strategic Golan, according to Middle East expert Jean Aziz. Meanwhile, Hezbollah's secretary-general, Hassan Nasrallah, has made a universal appeal to fight the "takfiris," or foreign fighters, of the al-Qaida-affiliated Jabhat al-

Nusra and ISIS.

Aziz said that with Jabhat al-Nusra "controlling the southern border area of Syria and reports on cooperation between the group and Israel, the Syrian-Israeli border has become an area of concern for Hezbollah and Iran." Aziz pointed out that some strategic locations within the area controlled by Nusra militants are less than 12 miles from the Beirut-to-Damascus highway.

Any advancements or military infiltration the militants make from the Quneitra province in the Syrian Golan could lead to a "shift in the military balance of power in the Syrian conflict".

"Such advances would allow Jabhat al-Nusra elements and other rebel groups to realize two goals to cut off the road between Damascus and Beirut, the supply route between Hezbollah and the Syrian army, and to represent a serious threat to Damascus for the first time since the war erupted," Aziz said. "The accomplishment of this would be highly dangerous for Hezbollah and thus cannot be taken lightly."

Aziz said any gains by the Sunni militant groups opposed to Hezbollah in the area would constitute a new front for Hezbollah in south Lebanon. "It would also constitute something of a siege, as Hezbollah would be stuck between Israeli forces on the southern border of Lebanon and armed groups to the east along the border with Syria," he said. "For Hezbollah, such a scenario would be unacceptable and impossible to endure. Reports alleging cooperation between Israel and Jabhat al-Nusra makes this especially troubling for the organization."

Because the Israelis are concerned that the Golan would become a new front for them, Israel has been providing humanitarian assistance to some of the Sunni militants, according to various Middle East sources.

Last October, for example, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Yaalon said that the Israeli army was providing such assistance as blankets, food and medical aid to village residents along the Lebanese-Syrian border. Yaalon said "it's no secret that they benefit from the humanitarian assistance that we provide to the residents."

Other Middle East sources even say Israeli assistance to militant fighters include weapons and tactical intelligence, although we could not confirm such assistance.

Zvi Barel, who writes for Haaretz, said Israel will accept Syrian militants on the Golan, but the presence of Hezbollah and Iranian forces would be looked at as a "strategic turning point" and likely be met with "violent Israeli resistance."

While Israel views Hezbollah's presence in the Syrian Golan as a threat, Hezbollah and its leadership regard Sunni jihadist occupation of the area as a threat to Lebanon, the group's existence and to Islam itself.

"All the world countries consider [ISIS] a huge threat, except Israel," Nasrallah said in a speech in Beirut Monday night. "[ISIS]' agenda had immensely served the Israeli one," Nasrallah said.

He warned that ISIS was threatening Islam as a whole and not just Syria and Saudi Arabia, where the jihadist group has threatened to take Islam's holiest sites, Mecca and Medina.

"Confronting ISIS militarily and politically amounts to defending Islam," Nasrallah said. "We consider ourselves, in Hezbollah, that we are defending Islam as a whole. The origin of the brutality and violence of ISIS takfiris is Hollywood. Any behavior by he who pretends to be a Muslim but contradicts the rules of humanity is not a Muslim at all."

Nasrallah said that those who criticize Hezbollah for assisting Syria should join it in fighting ISIS.

"I call for those who are urging us to withdraw from Syria to join us in our fight in Syria," Nasrallah said. "Let's go to Iraq and everywhere to face off this threat because this is the right way to defend Lebanon." He also called for a "national counter-terrorism strategy" to confront the threat from Nusra and ISIS.

Nasrallah said the fate of the world is at stake in the Middle East region and that Lebanon cannot disassociate itself from what is happening in Iraq, Syria, Jordan, Egypt and Libya.

"Jordan cannot fight ISIS in Iraq and support al-Nusra in Syria," Nasrallah said. "Terrorist groups are all faces of the same coin. People in the region must not wait for an international strategy to fight the Takfiri threat. Everybody should have the initiative to face this threat as we are doing."

Netanyahu to Obama: If Iran Nuclear Deal is Safe Why Hide It?

The Emet Report - WND, IOPM, WSJ, WP, JP, INN, Ynet, MEN, AP

After US President Barack Obama's administration admitted on Wednesday to withholding details of the Iran nuclear deal from Israel, and accusing Israel of misrepresenting the talks, Prime Minister Binyamin Netanyahu responded on Thursday saying Israel knows the details of the planned nuclear deal.

Speaking at the Public Security Ministry in Lod, Netanyahu remarked "we know that Tehran knows the details of the talks. Now I tell you that Israel also knows the details of the proposed agreement."

"I think this is a bad agreement that is dangerous for the state of Israel, and not just for it," said Netanyahu. Hinting at the talk of hidden details, he added "if anyone thinks otherwise what is there to hide here?"

The comments come after White House Press Secretary Josh Earnest said Wednesday the US is not making the negotiation "public" to Israel.

He said the reason for this is that "there is a continued practice of cherry-picking specific pieces of information and using them out of context to distort the negotiating position of the United States," in a jab at the Jewish state.

State Department spokeswoman Jen Psaki clarified that negotiating details are being withheld from Israel, saying "I think it's safe to say that not everything you're hearing from the Israeli government is an accurate reflection of the details of the talks. There's a selective sharing of information."

While Earnest and Psaki both claimed the hiding of information from Israel is old policy, US officials "more directly involved in the talks" were quoted by Associated Press as saying the policy is only several weeks old.

The back-and-forth over the deal comes as Netanyahu is posed to address the US Congress on March 3 and warn against the looming nuclear deal, ahead of a March 31 deadline for the talks between the Islamic regime and world powers.

Under the deal, Netanyahu has warned Iran would be left with nuclear breakout capability, allowing it to rapidly obtain a nuclear weapon in the near future. Iran last July claimed it "needs" 19 times more nuclear centrifuges than the number offered by world powers, demanding 190,000 centrifuges.

Egypt, Saudi Arabia Outraged By State Dept. Reception of Muslim Brotherhood Delegation

www.breitbart.com/national-security/2015/02/18 by John Hayward 18 Feb

The governments of Egypt and Saudi Arabia have expressed outrage over the warm visit Muslim Brotherhood members allegedly received at the White House in January, which the State Department eventually admitted to only after the Muslim Brotherhood members boasted of their visit on social media.

“The Egyptian regime, outraged by the visit, accused the U.S. administration of not respecting the Egyptian law that defines the MB as a terrorist organization, and of discounting the will of the Egyptian people,” reports the Middle East Media Research Institute (MEMRI).

President Sisi himself reacted to the State Department’s belated confirmation of the Muslim Brotherhood meeting by describing the Brotherhood as “the world’s most dangerous secret terrorist organization” and saying it “has clandestine wings and secret ideas and tools... which is why Egyptians rose up against it.” Other comments from Sisi’s government were even more pointed, as translated by MEMRI:

The Egyptian Foreign Ministry expressed outrage at the U.S. State Department’s hosting of the MB delegation. At the end of the African Union summit, Egyptian Foreign Minister Sameh Shoukry addressed the State Department’s explanation, saying: “I do not understand [the State Department’s] claims. We do not understand the existence of such ties with elements that are involved in terrorist activists meant to terrify Egyptians.” He added: “The MB movement is not a political party. Egyptian law – which should be respected, just as we respect the laws of others – defines it as a terrorist organization, based on evidence and testimony we have that indicates their involvement in terrorist actions meant to harm the lives of Egyptians, terrorize them, and threaten their security.” Shoukry said further: “If we wanted to bury our heads in the sand so as not to face reality, that would be another matter. But we see very well.” According to him, “terrorism is not just ISIS or Boko Haram, but rather all terrorist groups, regardless of what name they use, since they [all] champion the same ideology and the same ideas leading to death and destruction...”

An Egyptian Foreign Ministry communique from February 1, 2015 states that the Egyptian Revolutionary Council and the MB’s parliament in exile consistently incite violence and terrorism, spread lies abroad regarding the situation in Egypt, and do not represent the will of the Egyptian people. Moreover, some of their members are wanted by the Egyptian authorities, and therefore holding ties with these “illegitimate organizations disrespects the will of Egyptians and grants legitimacy to entities that attack it.” The communiqué states further: “The contacts held by some countries with these terrorist entities enable them to spread their ideas, which incite violence and terrorism. They also contradict [these countries’] presumed commitment to the struggle against terrorism and extremism...”

YESHUA REMEMBRANCE SERVICE

³¹ "Here, the days are coming," says Y'HoVaH, "when I will make a re-newed Covenant with the house of Isra'el and with the house of Y'udah. ³² It will not be like the covenant I made with their fathers on the day I took them by their hand and brought them out of the land of Egypt; because they, for their part violated My Covenant, even though I, for my part, was a husband to them," says Y'HoVaH. ³³ "For this is the Covenant I will make with the house of Israel after those days," says Y'HoVaH, "I will put My Torah within them and write it on their hearts; I will be their Elohim, and they will be My people. (Yirem'yahu [Jeremiah] 31:31-33)

Leader: "See! Elohim is my salvation; I am confident and unafraid; for Y'HoVaH Elohim is my strength and my song, and He has become my salvation!" (Isa 12:2)

Congregation: Then you will joyfully draw water from the springs of salvation. (Isa 12:3). Victory comes from Y'HoVaH; may Your blessing rest on Your people (Ps 3:8). Y'HoVaH Tzva'ot is with us, our fortress, the Elohim of Ya'akov. (Ps 46:7)

Leader: "Baruch ata Y'HoVaH, Eloheinu Melech Ha'olam, ha motze lechem m'in ha eretz." (divide challah)

Congregation: "Blessed are You Y'HoVaH our Elohim, King of the Universe who has brought forth bread from the earth. Y'HoVaH Tzva'ot, how happy is anyone who trusts in You! (Ps 84:12). Give victory Y'HoVaH! Let the King answer us the day we call. (Ps 20:9) I will take the cup of redemption and call upon the Name, Y'HoVaH. (Ps 116:13)

Leader: (with cup in right hand) "The cup of deliverance I raise and in the Name of Y'HoVaH, Yeshua HaMashiach, I call: Baruch atah Y'HoVaH, Eloheinu Melech, ha'olam, boray p'ri ha'gafen." (Replace cup with spices)

Congregation: Blessed are You, Y'HoVaH our Elohim, King of the universe, who creates the fruit of the vine.

Leader: Lifting spice container in right hand, says... "Baruch atah Y'HoVaH, Eloheinu Melech ha'olam, boray meenee besamim."

Congregation: Blessed are You, Y'HoVaH our Elohim, King of the universe, who creates the various spices.

Leader: As Avram gave to Malki-Tzedek according to B' resheet (Genesis) 14:18-20, let us all come and bring our offering; then take some Chullah; smell the spices; take your cup, return to your seats and wait, so we can partake together.

Leader: Pray in relation to what Yeshua has done in connection with the day's Torah portion. "Let us eat and drink together".

Malachi & Tamar: Aharonic Blessing (see Num 6:22-27). Our Abba and Elohim of our fathers, we thank you for the joy and rest of this Shabbat. May the coming week bring gladness & peace, health & achievement. Like the fragrance of the besamim, we pray that the days ahead bring sweetness to our lives and the lives of our loved ones. May the peace, which we are enjoying linger till we gather for Shabbat next week. We ask this in Yeshua's name, Amein.
