Facebook censors "The Post" to help Joe Biden's 2020 campaign

By Post Editorial Board - Oct 14, 2020

So much for 'Facebooks claims to be a neutral platform': One of its top execs just put the social media giant firmly in the pro-Biden camp. And Twitter soon followed suit.

Andy Stone, Facebook's policy communications manager, boasted about 'burying The Posts story' on proof that Hunter Biden merchandized access to his dad.

'Stones tweet' Wednesday morning: "While I will intentionally not link to the New York Post, I want be clear that this story is eligible to be fact-checked by Facebook's third-party fact-checking partners. In the meantime, we are reducing its distribution on our platform."

Though he doesn't specify what "this story" means, it can only be our scoop on Hunter — emails that show he introduced an executive of Burisma, the Ukrainian natural gas firm on whose board he sat, to his dad while Joe was vice president.

Within hours, Twitter was preventing users from tweeting out the story — with a high-tech trick that let you seem to post it, only to send your tweet into some holding-tank limbo. Its excuse was the supposed "lack of authoritative reporting on the origins of the materials included in the article," which might — might! — violate its "Hacked Materials Policy." That The Post made it very clear how the information ended up in the newspaper's possession didn't matter.

Censor first, ask questions later: It's an outrageous attitude for two of the most powerful platforms in the United States to take.

Biden Sr. has insisted he had "never spoken to my son about his overseas business dealings," a statement at odds with the massive trove of data recovered from a laptop at a Delaware repair shop.

No one is disputing the veracity of The Post's story — not even Hunter Biden. His lawyer George R. Mesires wouldn't deign to comment on the reporting, simply attacking the messenger. The Biden campaign did the same, dismissing it all as "discredited," while saying carefully that no such meeting showed up on Joe Biden's official schedule on those dates. (Well, if it wasn't "official," guess it didn't happen.)

As for Twitter's fear of hacking violations: Our story explains where the info came from, and a Senate committee now confirms it also received the files from the same source.

Yet Facebook and Twitter are deliberately trying to keep its users from reading and deciding for themselves what it means....

NASHVILLE, TENN. — Hunter Biden's ex-business associate Tony Bobulinski accused Democratic nominee Joe Biden of lying about his involvement in his 'family overseas dealings' in a stunning appearance just 90 minutes before Thursday evening's presidential debate.

“I have heard Joe Biden say he has never discussed his dealings with Hunter. That is false. I have firsthand knowledge about this because I directly dealt with the Biden family, including Joe Biden,” Bobulinski said following The Post's bombshell reporting on Hunter Biden's private emails.

Bobulinski, who will be a guest of President Trump at the debate, showed three phones spanning 2015 to 2018 as evidence and said he would be meeting with the Senate and the FBI to hand over electronics.

The US Navy veteran said he was introduced to the former veep in May 2, 2017 by Hunter Biden and the lawmaker's brother Jim Biden before the Global Milken Conference in Beverly Hills, Calif.

“That night, we discussed the

An executive of one of the most powerful media platforms in the country, who brags about his years working as a partisan Democratic operative, publicly boasting of his attempt to keep Americans from learning something embarrassing about the Democratic presidential candidate.

And then a major competitor rushes to completely suppress the same story.

Facebook and Twitter are not media platforms. They're propaganda machines.

Hunter's ex-partner Tony Bobulinski: Joe Biden's a liar and here's the proof

By Ebony Bowden and Steven Nelson -October 22, 2020

Biden's history, the Biden family's plans with the Chinese, with which he was plainly familiar, at least at a high level," he said in Memphis, Tenn., ahead of the final debate between President Trump and Biden.

"I have no wish to bury anyone. I've never been political. The few contributions I have made have been to Democrats. But what I am is a patriot, and a veteran, to protect my family name, and my business reputation. I need to ensure that the true facts are out there," he said, batting away accusations that he was part of a misinformation plot.

Bobulinski came forward earlier Thursday to corroborate emails revealed exclusively by The Post last week about the Biden family's murky overseas dealings in China involving both Hunter Biden and uncle Jim Biden.

The US Navy veteran accused former vice president Joe Biden of being directly involved in a plot to make millions of dollars, identifying to him as "the big guy" named in the May 13, 2017 email.

That email showed the four partners each getting 20 percent shares in the business, with 10 percent going to "Jim" and the remaining 10 percent "held by H for the big guy?"

The US Navy veteran said he was approached in late 2015 by James Gilliar, a man he had known "for many years," about joining him in a deal with Chinese-state owned energy company CEFC and "what he called one of the most prominent families in the United States."

The whistleblower said he was told the Biden family wanted to form a new entity with CEFC to invest in infrastructure, real estate, and technology in the US and around the world.
